Research Guides
The GeoDesign guide listed above includes links to a variety of internet resources for data sets and map-making tools, as well as open access journals and those available through the library.

How Do I Connect Remotely?
Connect to our online resources through the Library homepage at www.philau.edu/library just as if you were on campus. After entering your University network userid and password when prompted, you will be connected to the online resource.

Which Databases Should I Use?
Visit the Research Guides or select any of the following from the Library’s homepage. The databases listed below include indexes to articles with links to fulltext and E-journal collections.

Suggested Online Systems and Databases

EBSCO system databases also allow you to create search alerts and TOC alerts

Environment Complete includes much fulltext information pertaining to environmental technology and law, urban planning, pollution and waste management, and more.

GreenFILE includes some fulltext, pulled from the EBSCO Academic Search Premier database. Included are articles about sustainability drawn from trade, scholarly, general, and government publications.

SocINDEX Academic Search Premier indexes sociology and other social science literature; has partial fulltext

Academic Search Premier has much fulltext, drawn from a variety of subject areas
Business Source Premier includes business-oriented publications, mostly fulltext

E-journal Collections

EMERALD – provides access to just the Journals portion. Journals cover many business topics, including management, the built environment, and more. Limit to browse Journals & Books, Just Journals and Just my Subscriptions to see both an alphabetical list of titles and (in the right frame) subject groupings of the journals to which we have fulltext access.

Science Direct College Edition provides fulltext access to a cross-section of over 800 scholarly, academic publications. Abstracting and indexing is available for several hundred additional titles. Articles can be obtained through ILL.

SpringerLink has a wide array of fulltext articles from a variety of subject areas.

How Do I Obtain Full-Text From a Citation?
In the article database systems listed above, you will see icons that will link you to fulltext holdings accessible via Gutman Library in an online format, or held by Gutman Library in print.

In ProQuest databases, these icons appear as follows:

- !Link to full text
- !Find a copy
- !Link to Full Text

In the EBSCO databases and in Engineering Village, this is the icon:

- !Article Link

JournalList Finding Tool: Find Journals by Title
http://www.philau.edu/library/journallist.htm
The icons above link you to JournalList, our Journal Finding Tool. You can also use JournalList to search by title if you want to know if Gutman Library has fulltext access to a particular publication.

Access to online fulltext of pertinent publications can be determined through the Title Browse or Subject Browse features of JournalList.

How Do I Use Interlibrary Loan to Obtain Full-Text?
For items we cannot access online and do not hold in print, please use our ILLIAD system.
Sign up for an ILLIAD account by following the instructions here: http://libguides.philau.edu/ill Your item will arrive as a scanned or downloaded pdf document. ILL items can only be sent to your PhilaU email account. Please use it when registering for ILLIAD.

What is RefWorks For and How Do I Get An Account?
Please see our Research Guide for Refworks at http://libguides.philau.edu/refworks
RefWorks can help organize and manage citations to articles, books and websites you find during your research. Signing up for RefWorks is free, and you may maintain your account after graduation. Ask a librarian for Philadelphia University's Group Login Code so that you can access RefWorks from off-campus.
