Ed Begley Jr., actor and environmentalist, will be the guest on Ecoman and the Skeptic Nov. 4 at 11 a.m. (EST)

Philadelphia University's green radio show airs on The Green Talk Network

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29, 2009 – Ed Begley Jr., veteran actor and renowned environmentalist, will be interviewed Nov. 4 at 11 a.m. (EST) on Ecoman and the Skeptic, Philadelphia University's green radio show.

Begley's latest book, Ed Begley, Jr.'s Guide to Sustainable Living, Learning to Conserve Resources and Manage an Eco-Conscious Life, is full of practical advice and how-to guidance about greening your home and lifestyle. Begley recently started a new season of "Living With Ed," a hilarious dose of family drama starring Ed and his wife Rachele, who face new challenges inside the home and out as they try to strike a balance between doing good and living well.

Ecoman and the Skeptic, features Philadelphia University professors Rob Fleming, a LEED architect, and Chris Pastore, a green materials engineer, and their ongoing quest to make the world a greener place.

Ecoman and the Skeptic airs Wednesdays, 11 a.m. to noon (EST) on The Green Talk Network. To listen live or download programs, go to <http://www.modavox.com/voiceamerica/vshow.aspx?sid=1463>.

Designed to be informative as well as entertaining, Ecoman and the Skeptic is the first green radio show to broadcast from a college or university. Each week, a different topic on sustainability is attacked from multiple points of view with the help of prominent guests.

Philadelphia University, the model professional university for the 21st century, is committed to green education and sustainability through its innovative academic programs, applied research, student activities and campus operations.
